Sunday Reflection

GOD desires that we live. Death has never been GOD's primary plan for humans. God wants us to experience life. True life can be experienced only by those who put their faith and trust in GOD.

The Gospel presents Jesus reaching out to two of the daughters of GOD. The story of the healing of the bleeding woman is sandwiched between the beginning and the ending of the story of the raising of the daughter of the synagogue official. GOD desires that we share in the richness and fullness of life. This is, and always has been, GOD's plan for us. Yet, because of sin and evil, we experience the pains and sorrows of not having the fullness of life. It is because of the negative forces, that work against the gracious life that GOD intends, that GOD has allowed the Son to enter into our life and enrich our lives once again. Although Jesus came as a poor individual in earthly terms, He brought a richness that no worldly wealth could buy – fullness of life forever. Jesus has come to lift all who accept Him up to the highest status of being children of the King of Life and the Lord of all GOoDness, and no longer being slaves of the master of deceit and evil. Jesus' own death and resurrection have destroyed the finality of death and given new life to those who were under the ultimate sentence of death.

We are truly given a treasure beyond our worth. It is ours only if we continue to turn to GOD and acknowledge what Jesus has done for us by our living lives that are trusting and faith filled. We must proclaim the way GOD has rescued us and lifted us up from the depths into which we had sunk.

St. Paul reminds us of what should be our response to this new life and wealth we have been given. We are to share the wealth, both spiritual and physical, that we have been given. Just as we have gone from poverty and low life to the rich life of being the King's kids because of the overly gracious gifts of GOD as manifested in Jesus, so we must empower others to experience the richness of GOD through our actions of graciousness towards them. We give GOD the glory and praise GOD deserves by our sharing what the Lord Jesus has given to us.
