Sunday Reflection

St. Augustine first points us to reflect on the Ascension with the words of St. Paul.

Today our Lord Jesus Christ ascended into heaven; let our hearts ascend with him. Listen to the words of the Apostle: If you have risen with Christ, set your hearts on the things that are above where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God; seek the things that are above, not the things that are on earth. For just as he remained with us even after his ascension, so we too are already in heaven with him, even though what is promised us has not yet been fulfilled in our bodies.

He eloquently explains to us how, through his resurrection and ascension, Christ is here with us on earth by His divinity, and we are in Heaven with Him by His love, While in heaven he is also with us; and we while on earth are with him. He is here with us by his divinity, his power and his love. We cannot be in heaven, as he is on earth, by divinity, but in him, we can be there by love.

LIVING IN, WITH AND THROUGH THE ASCENDED CHRIST

This discomfort reveals a problem with our theology of ascension and our understanding what it means to live in, with and through Christ's ascended life. We forget, or perhaps cannot comprehend, maybe even deny, that Christ's ascension seats humanity next to God. God, heaven and holiness are up there somewhere, lofty and unattainable, and consequently, we're all stuck down here.

This is lived out in so many ways: comparison, competition, and judgement. We compare ourselves and our lives with other people and their lives. Our attempts at this self-ascension have damaging effects. They separate the creature from the Creator. They destroy relationships and intimacy. We are the only barrier to this ascension life that Christ has accomplished for us. A life that is already ours. The work has already been done.
